MORE INSIDER!

"Insider Black" is the follow-up to the Oink Games best seller, "Insider".

"Insider", which has sold more than 100,000 copies around the world, is a conversation game where you are trying to guess the correct answer to a quiz while also trying to find the "insider" that's manipulating the discussion. After being featured on a popular Youtuber's channel with over 1.2 million subscribers, "Insider" is gaining attention.

This game has 42 all new, more difficult theme cards and a 3 minute hourglass, exciting "black rules", "team rules" that can be used when playing together with the original "Insider" and many other exciting things! Of course "Insider Black" can be played as a standalone game too!

There are many new ways to play!

● The "follower" has been added.

The follower role card can be used when 6 or more players are playing the game. The follower teams up with the insider and tries to support the insider during play.

● "Off-limits question cards" that prohibit certain questions.

Depending on which of the 5 off-limits question cards is in play, for example, "questions about the master can't be asked", specific topics or questions are unable to be asked.

● Team battle when played together with the original "Insider".

Split into two teams and try to find the opposing team's insider. The team that answers the quiz correctly first has an advantage so even the quiz can get heated!
